The Chillie Group has more than 28 years of design, construction and project management experience and prides itself of its reputation, quality of workmanship and attention-to-detail.

The Chillie Group can offer a one-stop-shop of packaged solutions for your project from design, project and construction management, to long-term maintenance and emergency repairs.

"We are a building company that will listen and take the time to understand our client's every requirement, working with them from concept to completion," said director Graeham Wem.

"Most importantly, we understand that downtime means loss of revenue in this industry and our expertise lies in the ability to deliver quick, precise well-managed turnarounds.

"We have experienced teams of quality contractors and suppliers ensuring all our projects are delivered to the highest standard, on time, on budget and defect free."

One of the Chillie Group's most recent projects was the $4 million upgrade of The Oaks, Neutral Bay (pictured), featured in last month's edition of Hotel News. Owned by the Thomas family, who has worked with the Chillie Group on other projects in the past, the objective was to take the hotel's existing operations and make them even better. Works involved a total strip and remodelling of the entire space including new bar, toilets, lighting and floors and the careful restoration of the Art Deco mouldings and timber wall panelling.

Chillie Group's extensive knowledge of the hotel industry goes a long way in delivering a professionally managed, cost-effective result every time. If you're thinking about giving your venue a makeover, give Graeham Wem or Paul Milton a call on (02) 9453 4744. See page 47 for their advertisement. HN
